To whom it may concern,

The Amaruq Hunters and Trappers Association is pleased to inform you of our full support of the Arctic Salmon Program.

We understand the importance of this work and support this research. Amaruq Hunters and Trappers have been partnering with Fisheries and Oceans with their Arctic Salmon Program based here in Iqaluit.

This program will be collecting environmental DNA (eDNA) and record the water temperature in places where salmon may lay their eggs. This project will allow them to determine the presence of salmon, even if no one sees them. The water temperature would help them understand if salmon could successfully spawn in the areas near Iqaluit where salmon may occur this fall.
