Madam,

Thank you for your recent correspondence requesting an update on Glencore Canada Corporation's planned submission date for a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS) for the proposed Hackett River Project

As you know, developing a project of this nature is a complex task and we continue to evaluate this project from a number of angles so that we can maximize the socio-economic benefits while minimizing any potential environmental impacts. As this process is expected to continue for some time and unfold in the context of uncertain economic growth and volatile metal prices, we are unable to provide you with a firm timeline for submission at this time, therefore, the December 2014 project submission is no longer valid. We will keep you informed once we have additional developments that could bring us to submit the DEIS.

We remain, at your disposal should you or others wish to discuss this matter and will inform you should we have more specifics regarding timelines.

Sincerely,

Michel Boucher
Projects and Exploration,
