April 12, 2016	7 pm	Chesterfield Inlet Public Meeting, Philippa Aggark, Jobie Mike, Harry Aggark (Hamlet Councillor and HTO) , Elisha, Andre Tautu, Elizabeth Tautu, Luke Aggark, P Sharp, Marlene M. Leo Mimialik, Donna, Pauline K, Peter Sr. Kattegaisiak (KIA Director, Hamlet Councillor) , Valerie Ipkarnark (KIA CLO) , Leonie Mimialik, Sapa, E Papak, William Angotingoar, Jimmy Krako (Deputy Mayor), Flora, David Kattegaisiak (CEDO),	DL: introduction of Chris Taylor to speak to the company about the project and address concerns raised to the NIRB CT: power point presentation (digital copy provided to KIA, HTO, Hamlet, CEDO) Chris apologized to everyone in attendance and said that the company got off on the wrong foot. He explained that he had hired someone to help with community consultation, and apparently the person didn't contact any stakeholders. Chris asked those in attendance if they had been contacted by the person and was told no, that they hadn't. (Valerie and Peter both said that they hadn't heard from him). He further mentioned that Denise Lockett had been retained in March to help the company. He then went on through the presentation to provide everyone with background on the company, the project, the proposed Wildlife and Environment Monitoring and Mitigation Program, and plans going forward. Jimmy: were the wildlife monitors hired out of Rankin Inlet? CT: yes, but this year we would like to hire them out of Chesterfield Inlet. People here know the land better than we do! Jimmy: do the diamonds with different colors have different values? CT: yes, some are more rare. Explained sampling methods, review of previous data from Shear exploration etc.

			DL: no work is done on a project without the communities approval. Every step of exploration e.g., drilling and perhaps becoming a mine; the community is consulted with, advice is sought, and mitigation measures are agreed on. CT: we need to talk about the abandoned Shear Minerals camp at Josephine Lake. We are aware of your concerns and Dunnedin is not exploring in that area, and is not going to use the camp. The area that Dunnedin plans to explore on is a lot smaller than the ground that Shear Minerals held. We hope to take someone like Peter Kattegatsiak with us out on the land to show us what we need to avoid. We will also have an archaeological assessment done of areas that we hope to drill on – prior to any disturbance. PK: any burial sites? CT: not that we are aware of. The archaeologist will work with the GN to make sure that all information is reported and recorded. The GN doesn't have a map for companies conducting mineral exploration that shows areas to avoid. AT: There are always historical sites (works for the Inuit Heritage Trust), the Josephine River is a char river and so is Josephine Lake. CT: We need your advice on how to avoid having an impact to wildlife. AT: It was a nice camp until they abandoned it, there are fuel caches there too. Leo: Before Shear set up the camp they should have made an agreement that it would be cleaned up. Companies come in and say they are having meetings with Hamlet etc. Should have more input from HTO too. (health break) Draw for prizes. Look at maps and rocks as well as diamonds. Thanks for coming out and commit to coming back before exploration starts.

Since he's been out on the land around there it's better to bounce things off him first if he's ok with that. Plans should go from me --> Peter --> back to me --> geology crews. We'll just avoid any areas that he thinks should be avoided, and if he thinks anything's going to require a discussion with other local parties we should have another meeting like last night before we do anything there.  We also need names of two wildlife spotters from Chesterfield for four weeks this summer, if there's good guys that are going to be busy we'd better try to get their time committed soon.  Thanks  Chris

I'll follow up with a letter expressing Dunnedin's commitment to help clean up the camp by Monday most likely. There seems to be a lot of interest from several parties in the wood and other materials out there so I will probably keep the specifics pretty vague (don't want to be seen favouring any one group or taking away clean up jobs), other than that we will provide support when the KIA is ready to trigger the clean-up. We could talk specific numbers but I'd have to have something from you guys to base that an, so probably better to keep it clearly intentioned to help, but light on details until you guys have a chance to publish your own proposal. I really don't want to step on anyone's toes here but want to show people that we will help and have publicly committed to do so. Very nice meeting you finally. July 22, 2016		Chesterfield Inlet Mayor	Phone call to, from CT re: project update. Not at that number. Left a message.
July 22, 2016	11:53	Chesterfield Inlet, Mayor	Email to, from CT : Hello Barney, Denise Lockett gave me your email so I could follow up with you after her meeting this month. I also left you a message on your cell phone this morning. I am planning to head up to Chesterfield Inlet around the start of August and wondered if you were available to meet and head out on the land so I can learn more about the area and how to minimize our impact on it? I'd like to time my trip so that you're in town. Maybe we can sit down over some maps when in town as well, so I can get a better idea about your community's use of the land in various areas so we can plan accordingly? We also need at least two good guys that can head out with us as wildlife monitors for about a month. We used two guys from Rankin Inlet

		last year, but I'd rather use people from Chesterfield if you have anyone available. They'll need to take notes of all the wildlife we see and also have rifles just in case. If you can recommend anyone suitable, we'd really appreciate it. We also need advice on how to finalize our wildlife monitoring and impact reduction plan, so maybe if we can meet for a day and then head out on the land for a couple days afterwards that would work? I was in Ottawa earlier this month and thought I might have time to meet up with you while you were there, but my mother who I was visiting is quite sick and I just wanted to spend time with her. I'm not sure if Denise said I was going to meet up with you or not, but I spent the whole time with my parents so didn't get any meetings or anything else done. I should mention I haven't heard anything back from the KIA yet about when they're planning to start cleaning up the Josephine Lake camp. I gave them a formal letter saying we'd help clean it up once they started, my idea was to helicopter people or material to and from the site during clean up when we were out there working anyway doing our geological mapping. It would be a waste of a good opportunity if they can't get their plans together in time this year. Maybe if they'll let us access the camp, we can at least go out there with a couple of guys and clean up some of the trash that's blown out onto the tundra from the ripped up tents? It would be a start anyway. I don't really understand what the delay is there, Luis Manzo said it was legally complicated but the longer that stuff is out there the more there is to clean up, and the less useful all the wood and equipment is to the communities. Please give me a call back whenever you like, my cell phone is 778 938 5298. Best regards Chris Chris Taylor, M.Sc. P.Geo President and CEO Dunnedin Ventures Inc.

Advice also sought on appropriate name for project.  Side trip made to check out abandoned fuel caches and exploration camp. Chris reiterated offer made via letter in June to KIA to provide assistance in clean up activities. No response received to date from the KIA and Chris encouraged them to obtain a response “if you have the ear of anyone, please let them know we can provide assistance”.

Aug 9, 2016	08:36	Chesterfield Inlet KIA CLO, HTO, Hamlet, SAO, MLA	Email to, from DL re: We arrived in Chester yesterday via helicopter from Rankin Inlet and unfortunately mayor Barney Aggark had gone whale hunting and was stuck in the ice near Naajut. We asked Harry Aggark with the HTO and Peter Kattegatsiak with the Hamlet and KIA to come out with us via helicopter to see areas where Dunnedin would like to conduct exploration activities and obtain advice and suggestions. There were none (please correct me if I am wrong) We then flew to look at Shears abandoned camp at Josephine Lake. We took pictures and assessed the cleaned up required. We explained that KIA had not required Shear Minerals (my understanding) to have a security deposit for reclamation and as such it sits abandoned on KIA land. We explained further that Luis Manzo with KIA had told us that he was preparing a proposal to clean up the site. Dunnedin had sent a letter of support in June 2016, for the cleanup but had not heard anything from KIA. I have asked Mary Ann, HTO manager to see if we can have a meeting with HTO today and wonder if KIA CLARC could also be included. The purpose would be to discuss the proposed Wildlife and Environment Monitoring and Mitigation Plan and to discuss next years proposed activities. We also plan on having a public meeting in the hamlet chambers tomorrow night from 7-9. Hopefully Mayor Aggark will be back in the community as we would like to get the support from the Hamlet and the HTO.
Aug 9, 2016	11:06	Chesterfield Inlet Hamlet, KIA CLO, HTO	Email to, from DL re: Hi there: while Chris Taylor is in town, it would be great to meet with people who are interested in helping us as wildlife monitors for the upcoming exploration program. We would need two people, who would be prepared to stay in Rankin Inlet for a couple of weeks.

			These people would be required to accompany the field crews onto the tundra and carry firearms in case a situation arises – to keep the field crews safe! So, they would have to be legally able to carry a gun and to use it, as Dunnedin's field crews would not have guns. One person would be with one crew, and the other person would be with the other crew. They would need to have good warm clothing, bug jackets, good boots etc. So, it would be about two weeks work based out of Rankin. Chris would be available to meet with interested people tonight at 6 pm at the hotel. (no one showed up to meet with Chris)

Aug 9,	13:30	Chesterfield Inlet meeting: KIA CLARC	Meeting to discuss project plans for this year and proposed plans for

2016	Peter Kattegatsiak, Director Valerie Ikpamark, CLO Pauline Kadjuk-Elder Leonie Mimialik – HTO Rep Harry Aggark-Hamlet Rep HTO: Mary Ann Issaluk, Manager Vice chair Tony Amauyak Sec'treasurer Marjorie Autut Directors: Mark Amarok	2016 and the draft Wildlife and Environment Monitoring and Mitigation Plan. Obtained advice from those present on helicopter flights eg, caribou and geese avoidance, as well as the need for wildlife monitors. Chris explained that this year activities would be based out of Rankin Inlet and there would not be a camp. With regards to the abandoned Shear Minerals camp at Josephine Lake, Chris had written a letter of support to the KIA in June, for a proposal that Luis Manzo was writing but had not heard back. Peter K. suggested that a copy be sent to the new executive director as well as the President of the KIA. Denise said she would do this. Chris asked that anyone who had the ear of senior people in KIA, please pass along the message that Dunnedin could help provide some assistance but would need to hear back asap in order to take advantage of the helicopter in August/early September. Valerie commented on the great work that David Ningeonan the President was doing and Denise agreed. Mark requested that he be considered as a wildlife monitor – previous experience as a prospector also. He asked if the company would be sampling from frost boils – where there is a higher concentration of minerals. Chris said yes they would be. It was agreed that the activities proposed to start on Aug 26, 2016 were low impact and could proceed as proposed. Harry Aggark and Peter Kattegatsiak had been flown to the proposed exploration sites the day before and agreed that work could proceed. Chris suggested that the company could fly community representatives each year prior to activities to endorse the activities and provide recommendations in advance of exploration. Consultation with the community would take place at each opportunity when advice is required and sought. This would likely take place at a minimum of twice a year and will be included in the Wildlife and Environment Monitoring and Mitigation Plan.

		Advice was sought on places to avoid and times of year that were sensitive. Marjorie stated that caribou travel down from the Baker Lake area in August although caribou and fish migration (up from the Josephine River to Josephine Lake) varies from year to year. She also showed a map indicating where she and her husband Paul had a KIA Land Use Licence KVRL16Y01. Harry stated that his concerns was for fish habitat and that in late August the char start coming up the Josephine River to Josephine Lake. There are cabins and areas that people go to to fish.(these were indicated on the map) Chris stated that there were no plans to sample along the river. Soil samples of around 10-20 lbs would be taken but not in the river. Marjorie asked about the use of explosives and Chris clarified that for this year there would only be soil sampling (shovels and sample sieved into sample bags) and that type of activity. For 2017 equipment would need to be mobilized to likely 3 specific areas (via overland haul in Winter). Careful and minimal explosives would be necessary for larger samples, but these would be well in land. This was supported by Harry and Peter who inspected the larger sample sites the day previous. Marjorie further stated that in late September and October, the caribou start to move South and in land. Valerie asked that after the sampling program, when would you get the value on the diamonds? Chris commented that a larger sample would have to be taken to get enough diamonds for a valuation. Hence, the larger sample program that would take next year with equipment. He described the size of sample required. Marjorie asked if honorarium would be paid to the KIA CLARC and the HTO members for attendance at the meeting. Denise said yes and to provide her with an invoice. (Honourarium paid to HTO members prior to Denise's departure from the Community on Aug 11).Peter gave

			instruction to Valerie with regards to Honorarium for KIA CLARC members. Denise stated that any further comments or advice on the draft Monitoring and Mitigation Plan could be sent to her for inclusion. Peter updated Denise with information for the contact portion. Meeting ended 3 pm

Aug 10, 2016	07:30 pm	Chesterfield Inlet public meeting in Hamlet Chambers	Dunnedin Ventures Inc: Chris Taylor, President, Denise Lockett (consultant) Chesterfield Inlet: Pauline Kaotuk, Sheila Kadjuk, Jobie Mike, Mary Ann Issalup, Leonie Mimialik, Valerie I, Jimmy, Bo Derek, Flora, Mark Amarok, Rosalie, Philippa, Marjorie, Janice Aggark, David K., Greg K. Denise welcomed everyone and asked if people would like an opening prayer. They agreed and Leonie provided a prayer. Chris thanked everyone for coming and opened by providing background on the company and the difficulty getting the exploration

		project approved with the negative comments received on the previous company's abandoned exploration camp. Chris showed maps of the camp location, which is not on Dunnedin's project. Chris reiterated that he had provided a letter of support to Luis Manzo with the KIA stating that Dunnedin could provide assistance (helicopter time) during the company's exploration activities expected to start Aug 24, but had had no response from the KIA. Denise stated that she understood that Mr. Manzo was away until Aug 30, but as she would be in Rankin Inlet the next day, perhaps she could ask officials there about the status. Chris agreed. Valerie stated that copies of the June 2016 letter to KIA should go to the President and the Executive Director and she would call them about this. There was considerable concern about the abandoned Shear Minerals camp and this took over much of the discussion. Valerie stated that Denise had worked for Shear Minerals and why didn't she do anything about it. Denise stated that she was not aware of the abandonment until it had happened, and had fired Shear Minerals as a client. Discussion included the need for Security Deposits previously not required, but now do. Marjorie Autut said that when she applied for her LUP with KIA, that Luis Manzo asked her to take over the Shear Minerals abandoned camp and that she declined. Denise suggested that the meeting get back on track so that update and discussion on this year's exploration activities and next year's proposed activities could take place. Chris agreed that there would be no more discussion on the abandoned exploration activities of Shear Minerals and that the company would focus on their own project. Chris spoke about this year's exploration program based out of Rankin Inlet, with Chesterfield Inlet wildlife monitors, they would be mapping, sampling and trenching. He highlighted previous exploration methods that would be less impact now There would be three areas identified for trenching and sampling and that they would be filled in after samples were obtained. Chris suggested any equipment used to collect the samples by Dunnedin could also be used to fill in the sample pits from Shear's work that had been left open. As an example, Chris stated that a sampling hole or "crater" had been

		left in one location from previous exploration, but then showed a picture of the site that Denise had taken that week along with Peter and Harry during the helicopter site visit, and it was determined that the “crater” was actually only a few feet deep. He further explained that a sample would need to be collected next year at that location, so that more diamonds could be recovered and a valuation obtained. While rocks left behind by Shear are too large to move by hand, equipment used by Dunnedin to collect a sample there could fill in the shallow hole and tidy up the area after Dunnedin’s sampling was complete. Drilling was discussed as being used in the future, potentially starting in 2017. Pictures of drill sites from Shear’s past work was shown and it was shown there was minimal remaining impact from those activities. Photographs of drill rigs from other projects were shown for reference. Drilling is less invasive than blasting or trenching, but that drilling would still only occur when wildlife were not present. Chris asked that a community member (eg HTO member) accompany him before each exploration program, so that current information could be shared with regards to wildlife activity and the environment. This would be included in the draft Wildlife and Environment Monitoring and Mitigation Plan that would be submitted to the NIRB. Chris discussed the proposed exploration program for winter 2016-2017 which would include an overland haul from Rankin Inlet with a drill, and small excavator etc. Denise explained the comments received from the NIRB when they screened the application and how the company had and would continue to work on correcting information, had consulted with people and would continue to, as well as an archaeological assessment that would be conducted in early September. Archaeological assessments would cover all potential work areas on the project before the company entered into those areas. Marjorie stated that there were areas that you could see archaeological sites. Denise confirmed that the rules in Nunavut were very strict and that an archaeological assessment would take place of all areas that
--	--	--

			Dunnedin hoped to explore on. If any sites were present, they would be recorded and reported to the GN. Dunnedin could not explore where there are archaeological sites. The meeting ended around 8:30 after prizes had been drawn. Chris showed the diamonds recovered to date to interested people and both Denise and Chris asked people to contact them if they had any questions or concerns.
